Meet Our WaveMakers of the Month: Student

Elementary School:

Boone Anderson

Grade - 4th Grade Area of Recognition - Citizenship/Academics/Leadership

I'm a WaveMaker because...

Boone Anderson is a hero! He is 10 years old and saved a toddler from drowning. He courageously dove into the deep end of a pool to rescue the child on his own. Two other girls were with him and got an adult to help. Boone is also an A-B student who shows up every day prepared and ready to put in 100% effort. He has earned several positive office referrals as well. He is a leader in my classroom and has the respect of his peers. He has the leadership role of "expectations inspector" and helps the class follow rules. He offers creative solutions and supports others in need. He is exceptional in every way! ~Nominated by Stacey Smith - 4th Grade Teacher~

Middle School:

Autumn Brandon

Grade - 8th Grade Area of Recognition - Work ethic in Social Studies

I'm a WaveMaker because...

This student regularly helps when it is not necessary. She is very respectful to adults and has a great work ethic in the classroom and out. She is always kind and helpful to the other classmates. She is always in class with a smile and ready to help where needed

~Nominated by Kenneth Nelson - Social Studies Teacher~

High School:

Isabella "Izzy" Salcedo

Grade - 11th Grade Area of Recognition - Theatre

I'm a WaveMaker because...

Izzy is constantly helping out with areas of theatre that she is not in charge of. She goes above and beyond to help her fellow classmates when it comes to acting, props, and mental well-being. She is an integral part of our program and without Izzy, our program would lose a ray of sunshine.

~Nominated by Paiton Lami-Doyle - Theatre Teacher~

What is a WaveMaker? Someone who incites action or activity.

Meet Our WaveMakers of the Month: Staff

Elementary School:

Lindsay Taylor

Ashley Weekley

I'm a WaveMaker because...

Lindsay Taylor and Ashley Weekley are the K-Kids Club sponsors at GSES. K-Kids is a worldwide elementary school service organization that helps students discover their passion to serve others, bettering their school and community through serving, and they supervise the K-Kids meeting each week and facilitate conversations among the students to plan and implement several student-led service projects each year. They encourage every K-Kid member to realize they each have the capacity to be a leader. Lindsay and Ashley also spend time after school supervising the multiple student-led service projects in our community. Lindsay and Ashley are deserving of the title "WaveMakers of the Month" for their enthusiastic and tireless dedication in encouraging students to be compassionate student leaders who serve through the K-Kids Club at GSES.

~Nominated by Sara Altmeyer~

Middle School:

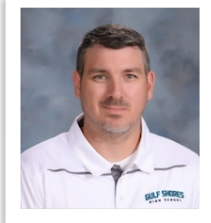

Megan Michaelson

I'm a WaveMaker because...

Megan is an extraordinary teacher and person! She not only incorporates a wide variety of art techniques and opportunities into her classroom to draw out the artist in all our students - she also seeks out opportunities and experiences outside of the classroom to promote her students and their skills nationally. She works tirelessly to ensure her students know their talents are valued, important, and worth pursuing. Dozens of Mrs. Michaelson's students receive awards or are published each school year thanks to her diligence.

~Nominated by Kenneth Nelson~

High School:

Britt Shaw

I'm a WaveMaker because...

Coach Britt Shaw is known throughout the state for his impeccable coaching abilities. His wrestling record, which already includes 101 dual wins in his tenure at GSHS speaks for itself. His standard is excellence for his wrestlers and himself. He expects much and rewards much. The team motto is "It We Me." It is the order he wants his team to prioritize wrestling - "It" is the sport; "We" is the team; "Me" is the individual. It isn't something he just preaches; he lives it out. Recently, a school in our 5A area started a brand new wrestling program. They travelled to GS for a duals match and brought fewer than a handful of wrestlers who were dressed in an assortment of football shorts, compression shirts, and tennis shoes rather than the standard singlet, head gear, and mat shoes. Following the match, Coach Shaw and the "Pod" (as the Dolphin wrestling family is called) gathered to collect donations to purchase singlets, head gear, and wrestling shoes for this competitor. Within 24 hours, over $1000 was raised and the gear was ordered and a Christmas gift was sent. Coach Shaw exemplified his motto that it is about the sport first and saw the value of the big picture. He will give credit to everyone else for the success of the team and this gift, but his leadership on and off the mat is what makes him a true Wave Maker.
